√ Volleyball: Juniors and sophomores round out varsity roster this season the offense with confidence. She's a top server who is also a threat at the net, and we are excited to see her back in action this year."

The balance of Nash's roster are newcomers:

Kaitlin Johnstone, 5-6, jr., utility — "She can hit, has a great serve and can pass and play defense. Kaitlin puts a ton of time in year-round and has a great attitude and really wants to be wherever the team needs her. She loves volleyball and leads by example with her work ethic."

Kynna Soland-Pfeil, 5-9, jr., middle blocker — "Kynna is a southpaw who is hard to block. She has gotten really strong this year and has developed her skills offensively and defensively." Nash is expecting a "breakout year" for the front-liner.

Lily Schwabauer, 5-11, jr., MB — "Lily continues to get stronger and more aggressive on the court. We are excited to see her grow into her role on varsity this year and to use her height to dominate at the net."

Bailey Robinson, 5-9, jr., MB/opposite hitter — "Bailey is recovering from a knee injury sustained during rodeo season. She brings strength and height to the front row, and she's anxious to get on the court. She's athletic and aggressive at the net and adds a positive energy to the team."

Teague Taylor, 5-9, so., MB/OH — "(Taylor) is an extremely quick, athletic player and will be an offensive threat. She's also a solid defensive player and has the potential to be a six-rotation player. Teague's offense will be key to our team."

Piper Kushlan, 5-9, so. — Nash says Kushlan is similar to Taylor because she "has a lot of length and is very athletic." Both girls saw extensive varsity time as ninth-graders because of the Trojans' injury issues.

"They bring a little varsity experience and confidence that comes with that. They will continue to improve exponentially in the weeks to come."

Charity Pate, 5-5, so., utility — Pate is coming off a season as junior varsity setter and a stint in international competition in Spain.

"She's very athletic, adaptable, and court-smart. She has a calming presence about her that will be helpful to this young varsity squad."

Aly DeVice, 5-5, so., utility — DeVice joins the varsity after serving as pin hitter and defensive specialist on the junior varsity in 2023.

"She's versatile, quick, and athletic and can play many positions offensively and defensively. Aly's a team player who is willing to take on the role where she's most needed. She's aggressive at the net and energetic, and we are excited to add her dynamic personality and skill set to the varsity roster."

Claire Salutregui, 5-4, so., DS/libero — Nash said Salutregui will bolster the Trojans' serve receive and backrow defense. "Claire has a textbook platform and reads the court well. She's also a dynamic, strategic server that typically goes on scoring runs. She continues to grow in confidence."

Marley McLaughlin, 5-5 so., DS/libero — A swing player between frosh-soph and JV as a ninth-grader, McLaughlin had a breakout summer after the spring club season, Nash said.

"She's grown in confidence and is excellent on serve receive. She also has a tough serve, and we are excited to see what Marley can do."

Youth and enthusiasm will be key for the Trojans this season, Nash said.

"Their love of the game will serve them well. Being a young team, it will be an adjustment to playing varsity teams, but I believe they will adjust quickly to the competition and speed of the game." — JPB
